

no

yes

yes

no

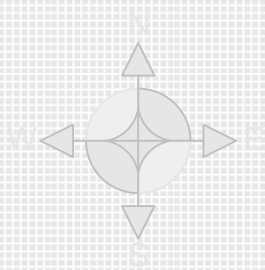

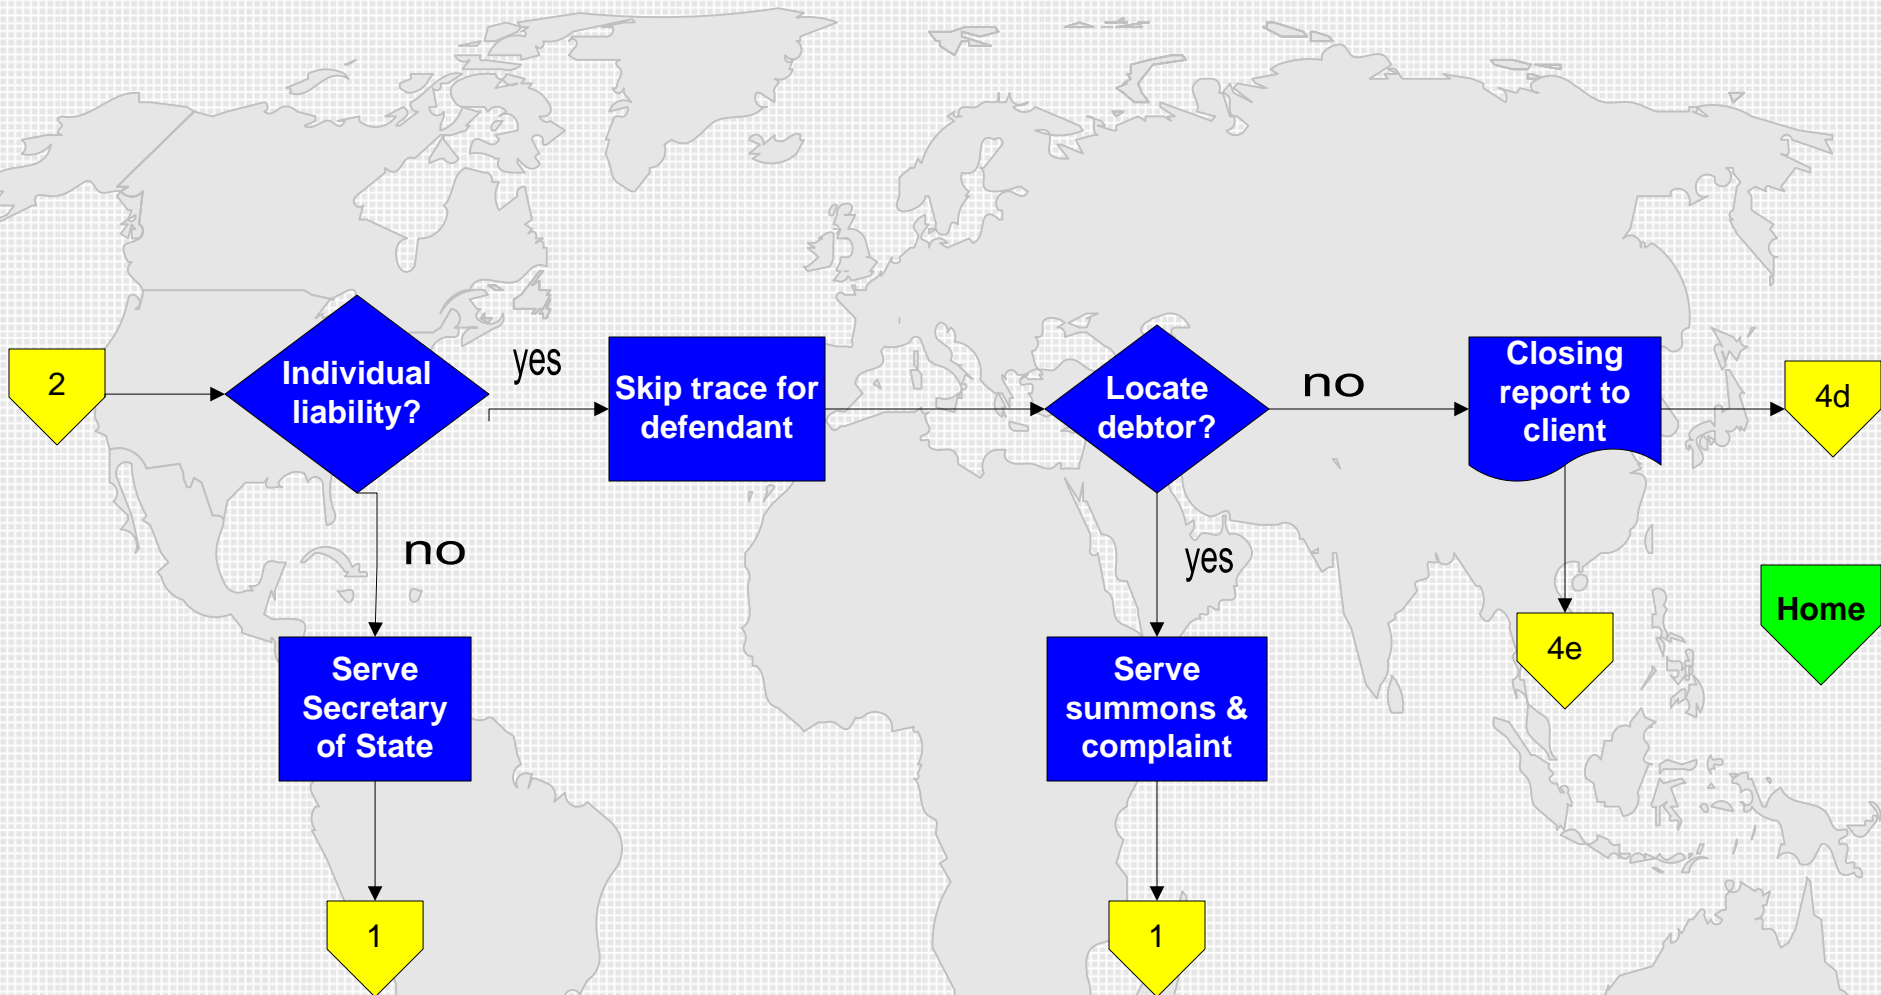

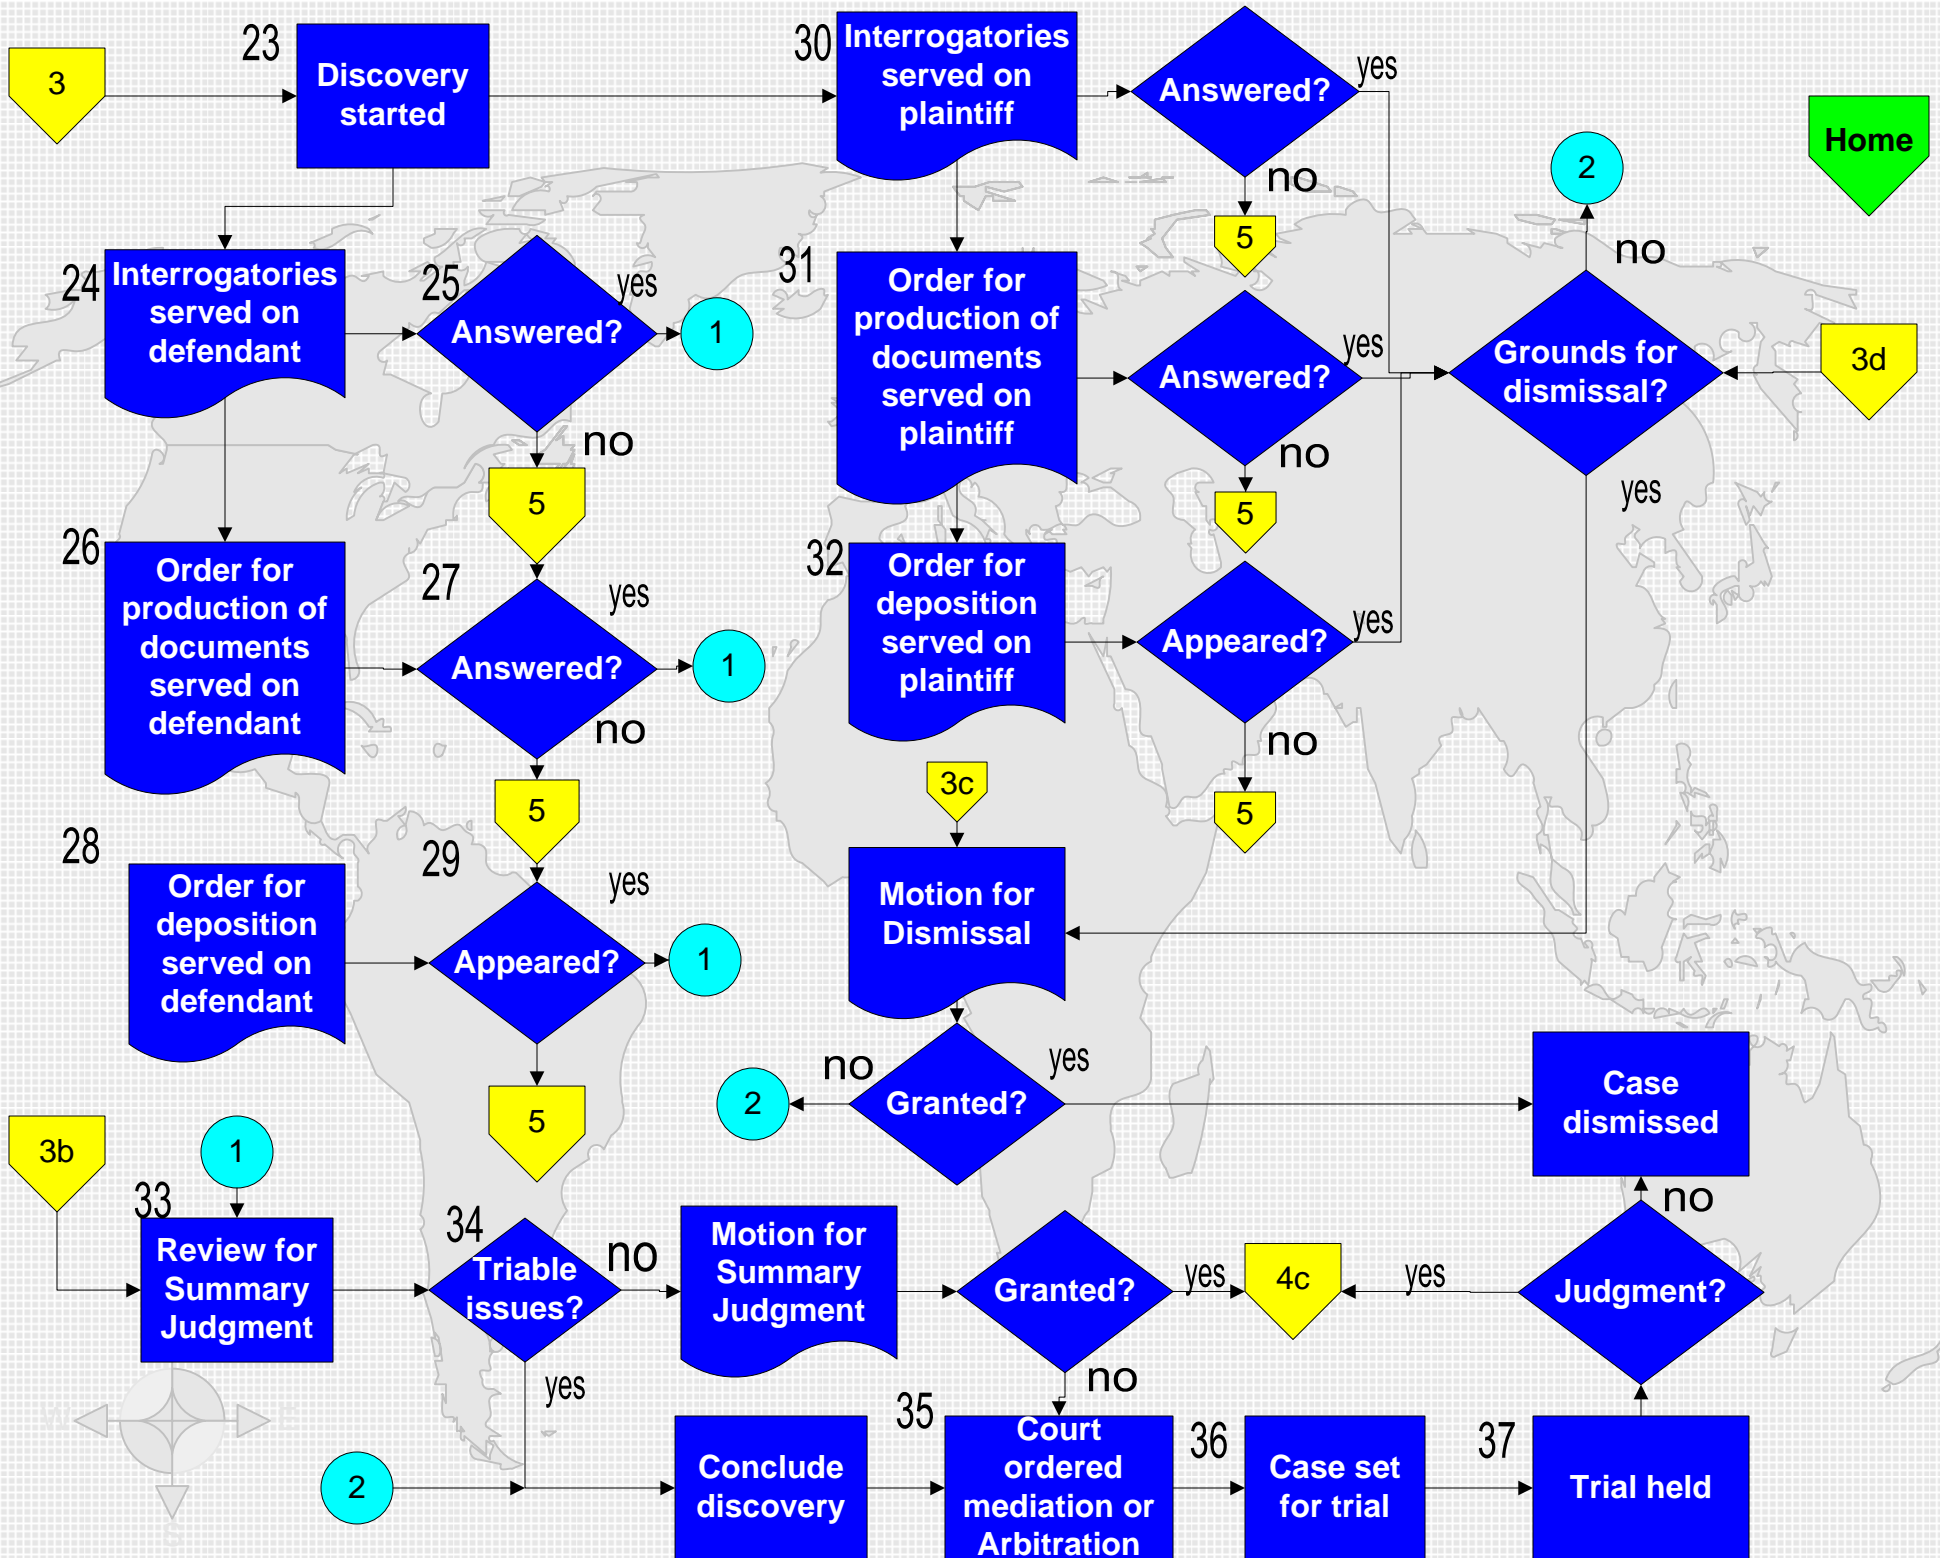

If the defendant files an answer with a countersuit, the plaintiff must answer and defend against the countersuit as though a new lawsuit has been lodged against the plaintiff. It is imperative that the answer period is not allowed to lapse, or else a default be entered against the plaintiff.

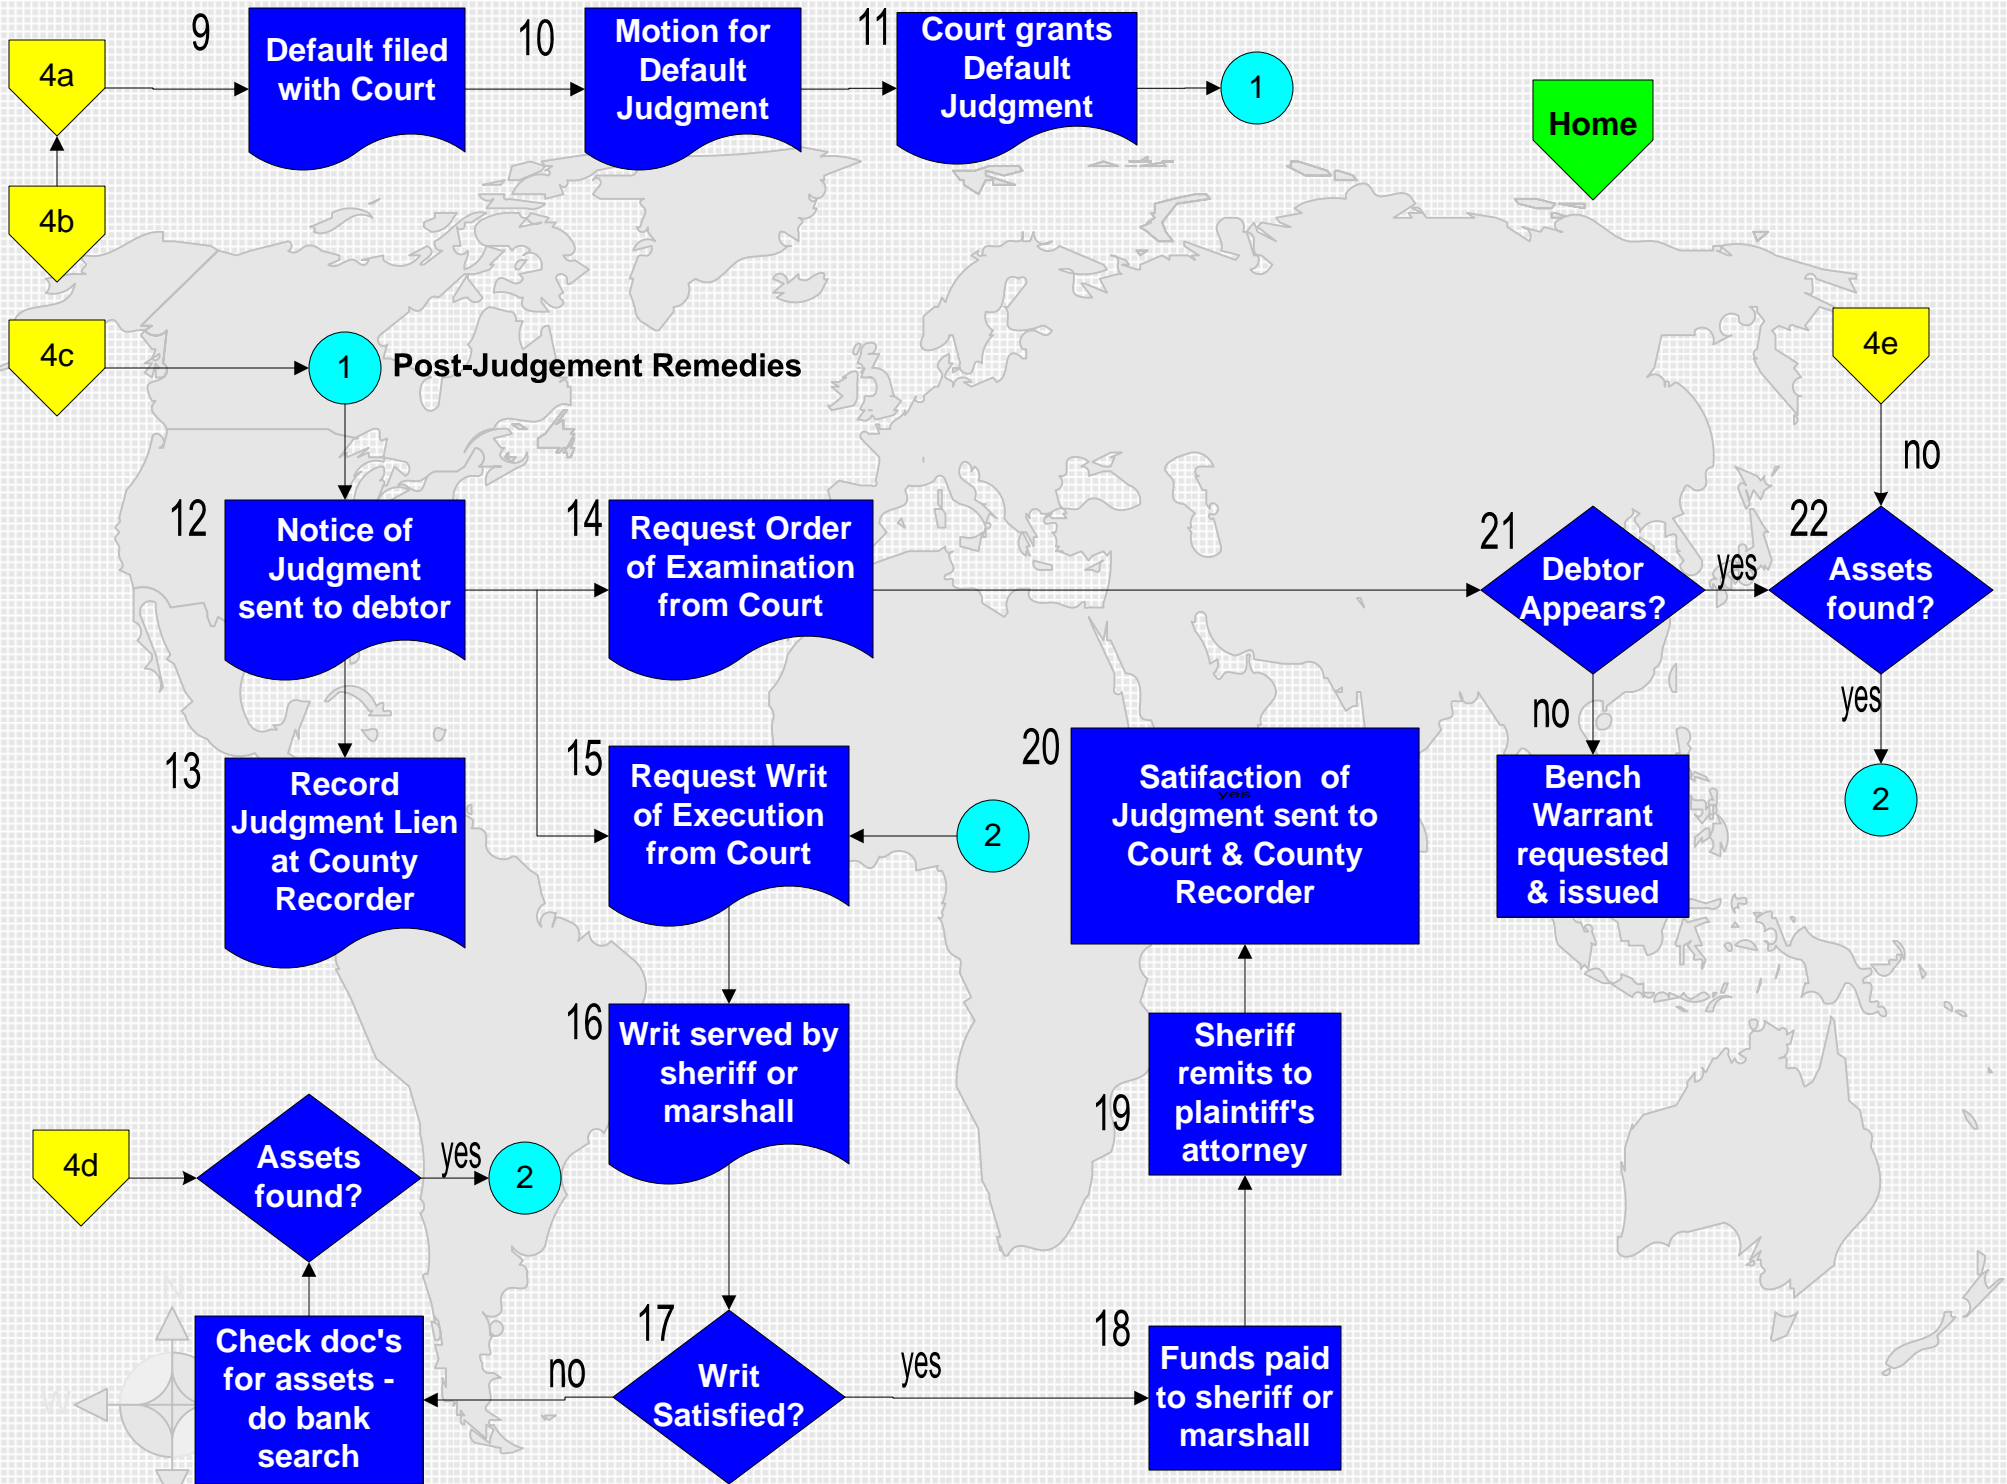

US Civil Process

D.E. Greenberg

Note:
Yellow objects (like 3 and 4a above) are off-page links to items on a different page in the document.
Turquoise objects (like 1 and 2 in circles on pg 3) are on-page links to items on the same page.

5

Motion to Compel

Home

Order Granted

Respondent complied?

yes

Is this plaintiff's motion?

yes

3b

no

Motion to deem lack of answers or appearance as admissions & to strike answers

3d

Order Granted

Is this plaintiff's motion?

Yes

no

4b

3c

